

Dream election - Hutchinson News, The (KS) - November 6, 2007

November 6, 2007 | Hutchinson News, The (KS)

I had a dream; and in this dream on election day there were no unopposed political offices on the ballot. The judges, sheriff, district attorney, state senator and representative, someday maybe even the chief of police, were all opposed by honest viable candidates.

Then I woke up and remembered I was in Reno County where having more than one choice on the ballot is a rare thing.

Unfortunately, if you get elected to office around here, you can relax. You'll be on the public payroll the rest of your life. Something similar to welfare, only it pays better with lower eligibility requirements.
